Construction of Inter-

South Broadway Will Be
Project Scene; Plans
Go To WPA

Plans for a large-scale sewer improvement, designed to put an end to flood conditions in the city during heavy rains, are rapidly nearing completion at the office of City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff.

City council, by resolution, asked the engineer to draft plans for the project which will be helped in one way or another by the WPA, the county and the Pennsylvania railroad. Plans are expected to be completed for submission to the WPA as a federal works project sometime this month.

The major part of the sewer improvements is expected to be made this winter, at a time when the city is unable to work street paving projects due to cold weather.

Intercepting Sewer

Principal part of the sewer project will be to construct an intercepting storm water sewer system to relieve the flood conditions prevalent in various parts of the city at times.

But, first, the city must have an outlet, the engineer explains.

Recent improvement, by the county, of the county ditch south of here makes it possible for the city to provide for sewer outlets on South Broadway and South Ellsworth.

The ditch, with the exception of a stretch close to the Salem corporation limits, has been widened and deepened as the result of efforts of the county commissioners and County Engineer, Charles O. Snyder. Repairs to the ditch near Salem now are planned by the county.

The first step in the city's plans, according to Barckhoff, is to construct a sewer to run under the Pennsylvania railroad to the county ditch.

Extends Along Broadway
This sewer, which will vary in size at various points, will extend along South Broadway to catch storm water coming off Euclid, Perry and Aetna sts. The 30-inch storm water sewer on Aetna st. gathers water from the southeast part of Salem and connects with the new Maple st. sewer.

The Broadway sewer will continue north to catch water coming off Franklin ave., and the Spring run sewer which cuts across Franklin to Broadway from beyond Lincoln ave. The proposed sewer will continue on to intercept the Gehenna sewer to correct flooding on the South Ellsworth.

The Gehenna sewer has its beginning near the postoffice and veers southwest to Elbert st., just west of Broadway, and then continues southwest to S. Ellsworth. At Elbert st., a connection may be made to run into the proposed S. Broadway sewer.

Treasury Considers
Two Billion Worth
Of New Financing

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Secretary Morgenthau said today the treasury is considering nearly $2,000,000,000 worth of financing before Jan. 1.

The financing contemplated, includes about $500,000,000 of "new money" borrowing, refunding of $1,378,364,200 of notes which will not come due until next March 15, and between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 of Tennessee Valley authority borrowing, he told reporters.

Morgenthau said that the $500,000,000 of "new money" borrowing was wanted to pay for the deficit on regular governmental operations, in addition to the $258,000,000 which the treasury expects next week from the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

The treasury helped the RFC this week to float an issue of approximately $250,000,000 one percent notes for the specific purpose of enabling the RFC to repay its debt to the treasury.

County Allocates
Funds For Relief

LISBON, Nov. 2.—County commissioners today allocated $9,429.03 for relief needs of the county's 13 townships. It is $1,991.05 less than the previous month's distribution.

The decrease is attributed to business gains and the rejection of some relief cases following checkups by Carl Rommell of Columbiana, special investigator.

The November case load was set at 767, which is 117 fewer cases than in October. This includes 2,447 persons, or 486 less persons than last month.

Salem township, with 113 relief cases, received $1,504 and St. Clair township, second highest with 77 cases, received $1,053.91.

End Of Drouth
Is Recorded As
October Leaves

Month Also Brought the First Snowflakes of Winter Season

October, which dressed the countryside in beautiful autumn colors, also brought an end to a 70-day drouth, District Weather Observer L. H. Copeland disclosed today.

The drouth was broken Oct. 26 when three inches of rain was recorded, boosting water supplies and bringing new life to wheat plants. Until lately farmers have been unable to make much progress in corn husking, due to the dry conditions, the observer says.

Top soil is now well supplied with moisture.

Although bright blue October days have prevailed, Copeland remarks, cold weather is just around the corner. The first snowflakes were seen Oct. 28.

October, in general, was warmer than in previous years. The mean temperature was 53.5 which was slightly higher than the 51.2 mean temperature of October, 1938 and the average mean temperature of 51.3. There was 70 per cent sunshine last month. Twelve days were clear, eight partly cloudy and 11 cloudy.

The greatest daily range, that of 41 degrees, occurred on the 19th. The maximum temperature was 87 degrees and the minimum 19. Three thunderstorms were noted. The maximum reading in October, 1938, was 92 and the minimum, 24.

October, 1919, with a mean temperature reading of 56.8 degrees, was the warmest October on record, according to the observer's record. The year 1917 had the coolest, with 44.8 degrees. October of the same year was the wettest, with total precipitation of 7.01 inches. The driest October on record was in 1924 with only .08 inches of rain recorded.

BRITISH SHIP
REPORTED SAFE

Freighter Coulmore, Believed "Sub"
Victim, Radios Canada; U. S.
Search Is Suspended

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Today the coast guard received word that the British freighter Coulmore was safe.

The word was received by the coast guard cutter Bibb from a Canadian radio station at Campdown at 2:30 a. m. EST. The station said it had heard directly from the Coulmore that she was safe.

The search for the vessel was suspended.

The Bibb was the leader of a squadron of coast guard and navy vessels scouring the Atlantic for the freighter about 680 miles east of New York after the interception early yesterday morning of a distress signal which indicated the freighter might have been attacked by a submarine.

The position given by the Coulmore at that time indicated it was just inside the neutrality safety belt around the Americas fixed at the recent Pan American neutrality meeting in Panama.

The Bibb also heard from Campdown that, for some unexplained reason, the Coulmore appeared able to send messages to Campdown, but could not receive messages from Canada.

International Relations Expert Reveals Interesting
Facts On U. S. Self-Sufficiency and Capa-

Will the United States become involved in the new World war, to the extent of actually fighting with the Allied Powers?

Dr. Brooks Emeny of Cleveland, son of Fred J. Emeny of Salem, expert on international relations, last night told a group of Salem men and women that the answer to that point-blank question depended upon the will of the people entirely.

Referring briefly to the President's neutrality legislation now in the house, Dr. Emeny said, "Laws do not get us into or out of war. It's our own will—the will of the people."

Dr. Emeny appeared as speaker following a dinner at the Presbyterian church attended by members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

FAMILY PENSION
COST COMPUTED

Bigelow Will Charge
Every Family $100, Says
Former Senator

Former State Senator John Taylor of Salem today provided interesting new facts on the proposed Bigelow amendments, up for a vote next Tuesday, in answer to his own query: "What will the Bigelow amendments do to us individually?"

"I do not think," Taylor said, "there are many people who do not agree with the principle of 'aid for the aged.' Our present law has been, and is at present aiding thousands of aged citizens. I do not think there are many people who would object to an increase if and when we can afford it. Therefore, the question before us today is: 'Can we afford the Bigelow pension plan?'"

"As a member of the Ohio senate committee to investigate the possibilities of increasing the present pension to $30 a month—the amount provided in the present law.

"We found that it would cost each family in Ohio, directly and indirectly, about $32 per year. This figure was not a so-called 'estimate of experts' but simple multiplication of the number then receiving aid by $360 per year.

"By the same simple grammar-school multiplication, the Bigelow pension would cost every family directly about $100 per year, because it almost triples the present amount and increases the number of possible recipients by reducing the age limit from 65 to 60 years.

"So next Tuesday we are to decide whether or not we will obligate our individual family to pay $100 a year for pensions.

The second Bigelow amendment, to be known as Section 1 (b) of Article II, should also be decided in terms of what it is going to do to us.

Has He the Time?
"Here again, I am sure we all agree that the average citizen could vote directly on proposed laws as intelligently as the average legislator. But this is not the question. The question is whether or not the average voter has the time to consider the multiplicity of legislation that will be presented, and whether or not it is possible to secure enough information on a particular law to pass judgment. A legislator finds it difficult to pass judgment even after receiving the benefits of days of debate pro and con.

"At the last election in one state, the voters had to vote on over a dozen constitutional amendments and over 30 laws. The question we should ask ourselves before voting on this amendment is whether or not we as individual voters want

FRONT" IS QUIET

Mayor G. Cecil Rauch
Asking Re-election On Basis of Record

LISBON, Nov. 2.—With only a short time remaining before voters go to the polls next Tuesday, Nov. 7, very little activity is noted on the political front here in spite of the fact that Republican incumbents seeking re-election are opposed by an almost complete Democratic slate.

With the exception of village clerk, one councilmanic position and two board of public affairs posts, Democrats named a complete ticket at the August primaries.

Mayor G. Cecil Rauch, real estate agent, is seeking a fifth term on the basis of a "sound business administration which has resulted in many village improvements, with the reduction of bonded indebtedness from $137,000 to approximately $39,000, since 1932 when he took office.

Opposed by E. L. Chaffee
Rauch is opposed by Eugene L. Chaffee, retired railway mail clerk, who is making his first venture in politics as head of the local Democratic slate. Chaffee located in Lisbon in 1933, coming from Pittsburgh. He is making a house-to-house canvass as the campaign draws to a close.

Kenneth Hiseox, Republican, grocery clerk, who is seeking re-election to a third term as village clerk, is unopposed, while Mrs. Helen Blackburn, Republican deputy registrar of drivers' licenses, and village treasurer, is opposed for re-election to the latter post by Mrs. Virginia McCord Bower, a practical nurse.

Marshal Dalton E. Pike, Republican, who is serving his fifth term as night officer, is opposed by George Stuckey, former state highway department truck driver.

Councilmen Seek Re-election
Four Republican councilmen are seeking re-election. Charles Van Fossan, retired, and L. H. Johnson, former commissioners' clerk, are seeking councilmanic posts on the same ticket. Asking re-election are Clarence Robinson, Harry Arter and Edward Helm, merchants, and Clarence Ball, potter.

Democratic nominees for council posts are: W. D. Gibbons, shovel operator; Life Bowen, retired blacksmith; Wilfred Welsh, mill worker; Oscar Lodge, shovel operator, and James Price, retired potter.

The three members of the board of public affairs, John Vogan, railroad brakeman; R. T. Morris, grocer, and W. M. Morgan, pharmacist, will be opposed by one nominee, Dr. James C. Gruber, on the Democratic ticket.

In addition to the state issues, the Bigelow amendments, the state board of education amendment and the civil service referendum; and the two-mill levy for a proposed new county jail, Lisbon voters will be asked to renew a three-mill levy for the operation of village schools.

County Bar Association
To Hold Rites Prior To Service

Att'y Lewis Pow Metzger, 69, prominent Salem lawyer and civic leader, died at 9:20 p. m. Wednesday at his home on East State st. following an illness of more than 14 months.

A leading member of the Columbiana County Bar association, Mr. Metzger was exceptionally active in civic, political and fraternal affairs. He had served as city solicitor and Columbiana county prosecuting attorney, was a charter member of the Salem City Hospital association and had been identified with the annual Community Chest campaign since its inception.

Born in Green township, Mahoning county, April 23, 1873, Mr. Metzger was the youngest of nine children of Abner and Sarah A. Metzger. His father was engaged in the stone quarry business, with Salem as the principal market for the products of his quarry.

Attended Green Schools
Mr. Metzger attended Green township grammar school and was graduated from Greenford High school in 1890. After working for a short time in his father's quarry, he attended normal school at Canfield and for a short time was a student at Kenyon college at Gambier.

He taught school at Greenford for several years before entering law school at Valparaiso, Ind., in 1893. He remained in law school for one year, then completed his legal training in the law office of A. W. Taylor of Salem.

He was admitted to the bar in June, 1895, and the following year became a member of the law firm of Taylor & Metzger. This association continued until January, 1900, when the partnership was dissolved.

Mr. Metzger practiced independently until 1904 when he became a member of the firm of Metzger & Smith, a partnership which existed until 1920 when the firm of Metzger & McCarthy was organized.

In 1924, Charles G. McCorkhill, who became known as Metzger, McCarthy & McCorkhill. The association of Metzger, McCarthy & McCorkhill was dissolved in 1933 with the retirement of H. L. McCarthy.

Son Joins Firm
Mr. Metzger's son, South, who had practiced in Chicago for eight years, joined his father in 1933 and one firm for the last six years has been known as Metzger, McCorkhill & Metzger.

Mr. Metzger was married in January, 1899, to Miss Jessie Pearl Baker of Salem, who died in May, 1906. He was married again in September, 1905, to Mary Annetta Farr of Salem, who survives.

A Republican, Mr. Metzger took an active part in political affairs. He assisted in organizing the M. A. Hanna Republican club prior to 1900 and was president of this organization for a number of years. In 1900 he was nominated and elected city solicitor of Salem, and was twice re-elected to this office. He was nominated and elected prosecuting attorney of Columbiana county in 1908 and was re-elected once before retiring from this position in 1913.

FOR BETTER EDUCATION

Fear by school groups that voters may overlook the importance of a proposed amendment authorizing creation of a state board of education should be quieted next Tuesday by voters, themselves.

The proposal is a genuinely constructive measure. "There shall be a state board of education to be constituted by law, whose members shall serve without compensation. There shall be a director of education; who shall be appointed by the state board of education. The respective powers and duties of the board and the director shall be prescribed by law."

Most other states already have education boards. The Ohio legislature voted overwhelmingly to let the state's voters decide whether this state would follow their example. Every state director of education since 1920 thinks there should be a state board of education. Many experts in education have approved the proposal. All agree it offers the best possible way to protect the administrative head of the state education system from undue political interference. All communities use boards of education for the same purpose—to establish popular control over school affairs without making the administrative head of the system responsible for determining public policy.

The proposal deserves support by all friends of public schools, all believers in better education—and their number is legion. It appears at the top of the questions and issues ballot and should be marked Yes.

BEYOND EUROPE

Shudders over what Premier Molotov might say before the extraordinary session of the supreme Soviet council Tuesday seem to have been justified by what was said. "There have been important changes in the international situation during the past two months," Molotov told his listeners. "This applies above all to Europe but also to countries far beyond the confines of Europe."

Alarmists fear Germany and Russia have combined in an attempt to spread the doctrine of nihilism—revolution for revolution's sake. Molotov confirms the suspicion that something of the sort may have happened by boasting of Soviet-Nazi friendship and accusing Great Britain of being the aggressor in Europe's war. Though not specifying what are the important changes in the international situation since conclusion of Russia's friendship pact with Germany, he seems to be referring to hopes of revolution.

If those hopes include China and ultimately Japan, the words of Premier Molotov begin to have meaning in the United States. At its eastern extremity, Soviet Russia is only a few miles from Alaska. China and Japan are vital factors in this government's Pacific relations. What the Molotovs and Hitlers are dreaming of these days cannot be dissociated from what Americans are dreaming of, highly desirable as that would be.

BREAKING THROUGH

Experts, who don't know much more than armchair strategists, are guessing that Germany will try "to break" through within the next fortnight. If the Germans sit tight, Europe's war will cease to be headline news for duration of the winter. The Allies aren't interested in "breaking through."

Guessing is concerned chiefly with a violent air-attack offensive against Britain in the North sea. Purpose would be to break the British blockade of German shipping and demoralize the population of the British Isles by reversing the blockade tables. Germany has threatened this kind of warfare.

It would be a new kind of offensive. In the World war, "breaking through" was an expensive and fatal operation on land, using artillery, infantry and tanks. Both sides tried it, but with such disastrous effects that militarists no longer claim it's feasible unless the side taking the offensive has an overwhelming superiority and is willing to sustain most of the casualties. The Allies won't risk it. They doubt that Germany will risk it either.

The question of war for experts and armchair strategists is whether or not Germany has found in bombing planes a workable method of "breaking through." The land war on the western front is subject to the axiom that large forces cannot be overcome by furious offensives. The plane-ship war on the northern front is an open question that may soon be answered.

—AND SILENTLY STOLE AWAY

Heavily guarded, according to discreet reports, the New York World's fair folded its tents Tuesday night and silently stole away. Vandalism and lighter forms of Halloweening were discouraged sharply. The fair was over and that was all.

It was the most aggressively ballyhooed entertainment enterprise in history. It was the most lavish. It was the largest and most costly. It covered the most ground. It had Grover Whalen at the head of it. It had New York City behind it.

It had the greatest ambitions any fair ever had. It drew the largest crowds, even though they weren't large enough to pay the freight on the investment. It had the most sensational exhibits. It was operated by the most complicated organization ever assembled for such a purpose.

But it didn't have Sally Rand. The Golden Gate exposition in San Francisco, which did have Miss Rand, lost money too. This must have been just a bad year for fairs.

HEALTH HUNT

It is now November. This month, next month and the four months after that, up to May, are the cold months—the head cold months.

Some optimist has predicted in a health magazine

there will be 200,000,000 colds in the United States this winter. Shugs, that seems like a shabe. But judged by frequency of colds so far, during the warmup period in October, an estimate of 200,000,000 colds may be on the sunny side. One healthy specimen who boasts he never has more than two colds a year already has had his quota. "It's the war," he explains. "People always catch cold more frequently in wartime. Nervous tension, probably." It's up to everybody to relax and stay healthy.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, November 3

UNUSUALLY promising and propitious planetary aspects are forecast although there are certain tenacious and difficult obstacles to be successfully negotiated. With determination, diligence and sound judgment, not complicated by whim, fancy or erratic impulses, there is good prospect of memorable achievements and fulfilled ambitions, with unusual business, cultural and personal gratifications and pleasures. Possibly romance, courtship, marriage or delightful friendships may crown such fair fortunes.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of great and happy fulfillments, despite some tenacious and probably disappointing angles. In business as well as intimate affairs there are promises of cultural satisfaction and romantic gratifications, culminating in a high degree of pleasure.

A child born on this day may be bounteously endowed with talents, forces, faculties and aspirations that make for a conspicuously happy and successful life. But it may have to work judiciously to attain its objectives and to overcome certain moody characteristics.

We have our moments of depression when we feel that while you can't fool all the people all the time, a lot of people can be fooled anytime with an old-age pension movement.

We can hardly expect the layman to understand this war when even Chamberlain, Daladier, Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin and a few other big shots can't understand it.

Admiral Byrd's Antarctic show cruiser lost a hubcap when it sideswiped a parked truck, but the Admiral's not worried. He has indicated that there will be plenty of parking space where he is going.

Dangerous To Disregard Alcoholism, Says Physician

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The three major public health problems in the United States are tuberculosis, venereal disease and alcoholism. The handling of the alcoholism problem has fallen far behind the other two in efficiency. Few doctors are interested and the ideas of treatment are as divergent as the individuals who prescribe it. The inadequacy of our care of alcoholics who become public wards is shown in the report from a large city hospital, which in the period from 1927 to 1938 reported that nearly a third of all male ad-are set by a psychologist as follows:

1. Escape from situations that cannot be faced.
2. Social drinkers who have drifted into the habit.
3. Maladjusted personality.
4. Symptoms of major mental disturbance.
5. To relieve pain.
6. Constitutionally inferior persons who drink because they like it.

Ages of Steady Drinker

The seven ages of the steady drinker also constitute a horrible example:

1. The Stripling. He other boys drink and he doesn't want to appear afraid. Age 20.
2. Scabbe fellow. Sure, glad to have a cocktail. Age 24.
3. Regular guy. Occasionally gets a little too much. Age 28. Easy to quit now.
4. Booze artist. Can drink anybody under the table. Age 33.
5. The rummy. Doesn't get any kick out of it, but can't quit. Age 40.
6. The soak. Age 45. At it all the time. No thought of quitting.
7. Just another bum. Age 50. (If his liver hasn't downed him.)

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ions were alcoholics. Yet, the average period of observation was only one day. No attempt was made to study the patient as an individual or to provide psychologic treatment, which is the basis for any hope of reclamation.

The treatment of delirium tremens is more satisfactory than the treatment of the chronic alcoholic. It used to be thought that delirium tremens was produced by sudden withdrawal, but most physicians who are widely experienced have given that idea up. It is alcohol that poisons the nervous system and causes delirium tremens. Supplying water and salt, sugar and vitamin B. with hydrotherapy and massage will give complete physical rehabilitation in most cases.

Mental Age of 13

Study of the mental status of chronic alcoholics showed that 30 per cent of them had a mental age of 13. Most of them had enough education that they had entered High school.

The economic waste from alcoholism in the United States is beyond calculation. Repeal and the opening up of bars to women have increased the waste and put an entirely new aspect on the problem. The number of female admissions is rapidly catching up to the male admissions. The causes of regular imbibing joyed, with prizes won by Mrs. Elmer Mercer, Miss Louise Jane Israel, Miss Sara Margaret Hawkins, Mrs. Herman Hartley and Mrs. Harold Johnson. Lunch was served by Mrs. Mae Veon, assisted by Miss Mary Irvin and Mrs. Martha Moulton.

Surprise Shower

A surprise miscellaneous shower was given recently in honor of Mrs. Andrew Filip of Damascus at the home of Mrs. Roy Campbell of Beloit. Mrs. Borton of Damascus was associate hostess.

The home was decorated with pumpkins and candles, with yellow and black color scheme. Games were the diversions.

Mrs. Campbell, dressed as a farmer, wheeled a huge pumpkin in a wheelbarrow, decorated in black and yellow, into the living room, laden with gifts. After the gifts were opened Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Borton assisted by Miss Ann Griffith, served a lunch. Guests were present from Alliance, Sebring, Beloit, Damascus and Salem.

Theater Attractions

Jane Withers is featured with the Ritz Brothers in "Pack Up Your Troubles", a story of a French girl in the 1917 World war, showing at the State Friday and Saturday.

A comedy that permits the little comedienne and the three Ritz brothers plenty of scope for their talents, the picture is surprisingly good entertainment.

Joseph Schildkraut adds his usual expert characterization to the story as the French spy, father of Jane Withers. Stanley Fields turns from his usual gangster role to one as the hardboiled sergeant who is the rival of the Ritz brothers for the affections of a French belle played by Lynn Bari. Fritz Lieber, Ed Gargan, Lionel Royce and Adrienne d'Ambricourt are seen in minor parts.

Concluding at the State tonight is the Joe E. Brown-Martha Raye comedy "1,000 a Touchdown". "Mutiny on the Mohawk", starring Richard Arlen, Noah Beery and Constance Moore will be the

CHAPTER XXXVI

His good, clutching her purse in both hands, as she looked slowly around the apartment.

"This is where you live. . ."

Her voice was halting. She swayed a little.

Mike caught her breath and realized that Iris had been drinking.

She laughed. Perhaps she had moved the growing concern in Mike's wide open eyes. "You're scared, aren't you?"

Mike ignored her question, asking instead, "Why did you come?"

"Oh, you know well enough why I came. Iris had to steady herself with the back of a chair. The telephone rang. Mike started toward the phone.

"Don't answer that!"

Iris's eyes were blazing. She drew a tiny automatic pistol from her purse. Her hand wavered, but Mike realized that Iris's aim might be recklessly accurate. The phone rang for quite a time.

"I just want to tell you: You know you're smart, going after Larry. Well, you're not!" Iris waved the pistol. She seemed suddenly to become sober.

"You got Wish Malone to snoop around, because you wanted my Larry. I know how you found out about Alfredo! Carol told you."

Mike was so stunned she could not speak. She just stood there looking at the blonde girl sheathed in black velvet.

"I came here to find out one thing. Where did you find out Alfredo and I weren't divorced?" Iris asked.

Mike tried desperately to think. What would happen if she rushed into the room? Would Iris really shoot? Mike figured she would not, but—

"Tell me!"

"What?"

"How you found out about Alfredo and me?"

"I don't."

"Don't lie to me!"

Mike tried another tact. "Mrs. Regan, this is all very silly."

"Don't you 'Mrs. Regan' me." Just then the buzzer sounded. Both stood rooted to the spot.

"Who is it?"

"I don't know."

"Keep still!" Iris warned.

The door opened again and then came silent.

Iris resumed with, "Yes, I'm going to shoot you. You can't have Handsome. I can't either, but I'm not going to see you grab him."

There was a slight noise outside in the hall. Mike tried to keep her face blank as she realized with alarm that Mr. Regan, Sr., had a key to the apartment. Iris did not seem to notice anything. But Mike was sure she heard faintly perceptible sounds. There was a key in the lock on the other side of the door. Slowly, quietly, the door began to open. Iris turned toward it.

"Don't open that door!" Mike's voice broke the silence in a crescendo of warning. Too late! The door swung wide. But Mike had jumped quickly enough to strike Iris's arm upward.

There was a ear-splitting explosion. It seemed to come from somewhere else in the apartment. . .

Then Wish was there at Iris's side; Mr. Regan, Sr., and Handsome rushed straight at Mike.

There was also a strange man who banged the door shut, commanding sternly, "Be quiet!" He turned to Mike. "When anybody comes to that door, you tell them that Wish dropped his gun accidentally and it went off."

There was the sound of excited voices outside. The strange man took Iris into Mike's bedroom. When there was a knock on the door, Mike answered it.

Her voice was convincing: "I'm so sorry, Mrs. Wells. I'm afraid it damaged the ceiling a little. We're terribly sorry. Yes, it was an accident." She closed the door.

Wish came over to Mike and patted her hand. "If Iris had hurt you, I'd never have forgiven my self."

"How did she get a gun, Wish?" Handsome demanded.

"I haven't the remotest idea. Or how she got away. I thought I had everything fixed perfectly at the hotel."

"But tell me. . ."

Mike's pleading inquiry was interrupted by the strange man who led Iris back into the sitting room again.

"I'm certainly glad I had that key, Mike," Mr. Regan, Sr., spoke for the first time.

"She is ready to leave now," said the strange man. "And she wants to tell you all how sorry she is."

He turned to Iris, who spoke up: "I just had too many cocktails, and then I saw a chance to get away. Gave Wish the slip. He's too smart, anyway!"

"What about the gun, Iris?"

She laughed at him: "I had that all the time."

The man who was introduced to Mike as "Mr. Johnson, the club's lawyer," broke in with: "Mrs. Hernandez promises to remain in California for a year. There won't be any repetition of this."

Iris turned toward him: "Where is Alfredo now?"

"Immigration has him."

Iris shrieked: "You double-crossed me!"

"We didn't. How did we know he'd overstay his permit?"

"They'll deport him!" Tears filled Iris's deep blue eyes.

"Probably. But remember, he's the boy that finally talked. Not anybody else."

"He always was. . . but Iris stopped at that point and turned to Mike as though she were making a social call with, "I am so sorry to have caused so much excitement. Please forgive me."

"Certainly," said Mike as everyone present began to laugh over the nerve-cracking strain.

"Maybe the boys would like a drink, Skipper?" Handsome suggested.

"I'll fix a tray," Mike responded and hurried around, got glasses and ice. It might have been any casual cocktail party except that Iris broke into hysterical tears now and then, accusing Wish and Johnson with: "You promised you'd not let them send Alfredo to jail!"

"I know, Iris. I tried to play fair, but I didn't know he was in this country illegally until after—"

"When I began to check, the Immigration authorities got interested and the fat was in the fire."

"Can't you save him?"

"We can try."

In the little kitchenette, waiting for coffee to boil, Handsome held Mike in his arms. "You're wonderful, Skipper. Nobody like you in the whole world. You turned the trick."

"What do you mean?"

"About Iris, and the South American," he explained.

"Then it's true?"

"Of course, it's true. I knew that the moment Wish spoke to me. It was the only possible explanation of where my money went."

Mike still could not understand. "But what does it all mean?"

"Darling, perfectly simple." He kissed her between bites on a sandwich. "She married me and Alfredo agreed to say nothing, if she'd pay him off regularly. Only trouble was, he wanted more as I made more."

"Then they were never divorced?"

"That's it!"

"Maybe she didn't know that."

"Nonsense! Alfredo was with her in New York when she met me."

"I can hardly believe it." But Handsome continued his reassurance. "She figured it would be worth-while publicity being my wife. To say nothing of the money. Then she figured she could divorce me, get alimony, go back on the stage and eventually marry Alfredo all over again, without anybody finding out."

to vote on 50 to 100 laws at an election.

"Some may say this is not possible. Well, it is not unusual for the legislature of Ohio, which is composed of only about 100 members, to introduce over 1,500 bills at a regular session. Most of these bills are not the brain storm of the members. They are bills sponsored by small groups—with only a special, selfish purpose.

For Example

"For example, the 92nd General Assembly in its regular session introduced over 1,600 bills. We had bills to prohibit electric light companies from selling light bulbs, automobile dealers from selling anything except automobiles, to give every inmate of our penitentiary a private cell, to regulate the number of working hours in a penitentiary, to compel owners of buildings to furnish a chair for an elevator operator, to compel every employer to furnish chairs of a special design for stenographers, to move the state house to the fair grounds to be used as a museum and to build a new one.

A law to do away with all taxes, to loan every newly-married couple $1,500, to cancel all debt to the State of Ohio, to prohibit card-playing of all kinds, to compel Ohio to pay benefits to anyone injured on a highway of the state, to prohibit certain civic organizations, to prohibit tips, to prohibit females from working in restaurants where spirituous liquors are served.

To prohibit females from doing certain kinds of work, to legalize gambling, to eliminate censorship of news reels, for compulsory blood tests, for sterilization of the feeble-minded, to fix the price of milk, a law to compel a hunter to carry a light at night when hunting snipe, to make divorce easy, to make divorce more difficult, to do away with the house of representatives and to increase the senate whose membership must all be college graduates who have majored in social science.

Tremendous Job For Voter

"Now if it is necessary for the legislature to deal with these and other numerous problems, what is Mr. John Q. Public going to be up against on election day. If the sponsors of special interests can get their pet ideas on the ballot?

"Therefore, are we as individuals going to let ourselves become the victims of every little minority with an idea? Are we going to take the time to vote on 50 to 100 laws at every election—laws that are mostly ill-conceived?

"Ohio has amended her constitution many times. In fact, there is no important problem involving society generally that cannot be voted upon if it has merit.

"Today the rural counties control the house of representatives and the cities control the senate. If the Bigelow amendment is passed the cities would control both houses, resulting in the passage of legislation for the benefit of the cities and at the expense of the rural counties such as Columbiana.

Fashion is "in Dutch" this year—and it's never looked smarter! Take, for instance, Anne Adams' Pattern 4296—an easy young princess style. The Dutch girl collar is so becoming, and so are the bishop sleeves. Or you might make a narrower contrasting collar and match it with cuffs if your sleeves are short. Double rows of buttons on the bodice are engagingly repeated at the make-believe pockets on the full skirt. Use a buckled belt, a backstitch sash or leave the waistline smartly plain. How about making an everyday frock of soft wool and a dress-up style of velvet with gold buttons?

Pattern 4296 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3½ yards 54 inch fabric.

PEOPLE'S WILL SETS WAR ROLE

Laws Alone Will Not Do It, Dr. Brooks Emery Declares

upon its bridge of ships which Germany now is trying to break via submarine warfare.

France's position is not quite as favorable but she, as an ally of Britain's, is expected to share with Britain in economic advantages.

Russia approaches pretty well the status of the United States while the conditions of Italy and Japan, in this respect, were termed deplorable.

The United States has an industrial capacity equal to that of the world, the group was informed. Japan, for instance, has something like half the steel production capacity of the City of Cleveland.

A Mild Estimate

Discussing America's unequalled production capacity, Dr. Emery had occasion to emphasize his comparisons by recalling an incident in which a British writer, attempting to book something on the order of that written by Dr. Emery, called the latter one day and questioned him about the "truth" of the matter.

Dr. Emery had said the United States had a production power of 60 million tons. "See here, Emery!" demanded the Englishman, "I realize you may have been biased patriotically (or words to that effect), but what is the actual truth?"

Dr. Emery telephoned authorities in Washington with whom he was acquainted and told them that he was dictating an answer and that he was going to say—not 60 million tons—but 75.

"Well, that's all right," answered his Washington authority, "but you wouldn't be far off if you said 80 million!"

Geography is a considerable factor in the wars among nations, Dr. Emery said.

Geographic and other facts show seven out of something like 59 nations (the figure is apt to change at any given time) as major powers. And solving the relationships of these seven powers would go a great way toward solving the problem of world peace, he added.

It would be impossible, the speaker pointed out, to execute a blockade of the United States in the way that Britain hopes to throttle Germany economically, because of this country's vast ocean boundaries. The Panama canal makes the United States almost an island power. Fleets can be shifted from ocean to ocean.

U. S. Well Endowed

The United States, he said, is endowed with attributes of economic and territorial security for which European nations have been fighting for centuries.

Here he commented on neutrality legislation now in the national house of representatives which excludes United States vessels from the North Atlantic.

"During all this debate on neutrality laws," Dr. Emery said, "not a senator has made the statement that we have abandoned rights for which we have fought in three wars; just when we have arrived at a position where we're really powerful enough to defend ourselves!"

England, he said, is fighting a war against dominance of Europe by a rival power. Four times she has done this, he recounted. The Empire was involved in the War of Religion, the Louis XIV wars, the Napoleonic wars, and the World War. "And the present struggle seems pretty much the same old thing, England's effort to prevent domination of Europe."

The speaker traced and discussed interestingly events from the World war until today.

In the World war, he said, the United States plunged in and gave the balance of powers to the Allies.

"If it hadn't been for that fact," he continued, "that war might have reached eventually, a stalemate. Some compromise might have come out of it and, possibly, European conditions today might have been much better."

"But the conditions of peace were not there after that war."

"Those conditions were left to Europe and we, who helped to produce them, stepped out."

"There came, finally, the collapse of the Versailles treaty and now—another war."

Restored By Hitler

He pointed out that Germany was deprived of the attributes of statehood which, he added, have been restored in high degree by Hitler. There was the "honeymoon period" of Locarno, 1926 to 1930, when certain phases of the treaty were liquidated. But by 1935 Germany was demanding equality of arms. Other nations had not, according to agreements, disarmed.

Hitler then renounced the terms of the treaty and in four years had re-armed to the extent that he could hold the world at bay.

"Intervening events included the collapse of the League, the transition of the United States from the status of a debtor nation to that of creditor nation and the centralization of money in the New York stock market, with the resultant crash."

Returning to war causes and effects, Dr. Emery pointed to Japan as first to violate the treaty of Washington, 1922, supposed to settle the Far East problem. The breakdown of the pledged word apparently sowed seed elsewhere.

There came the invasion of Abyssinia.

"The poison," Dr. Emery said, "had entered the body politic of Europe."

In 1933 Hitler became chancellor and asked equality of arms. Germany withdrew from the disarmament conference at the end of 1933. In March of 1935 he announced renunciation of arms restrictions. In March of 1936 ("Be ware the Ides of March," commented the speaker) Germany occupied the Rhineland, which meant that Germany could arm that territory to the extent that France could not enforce her will there.

"France and Germany permitted the re-occupation of the Rhineland," Dr. Emery stressed. "From then on they had no reason to complain of a dominant Germany."

Then came an interval of two years, quiet outwardly, but extremely active in the German interior, with rearmament progressing at a rapid pace.

Accomplishes Two Things

In March of 1938 Hitler occupied Vienna and accomplished two things besides bringing Britain and France to their knees.

"She not only placed herself on the threshold of southeastern Europe but also surrounded Czechoslovakia, which she later took to herself."

"It was the first real break in the post-war alliances through southern and southeast Europe designed to hold the status quo of Germany. Czechoslovakia was the first outpost. Now Germany could exercise the pincer movement."

Dr. Emery added that with the taking of Czechoslovakia, Germany also took possession of modern defenses built by the Czechs and, in so doing, the Hitler regime learned secrets of the French Maginot line and so built its own Siegfried fortifications.

"The Polish corridor," said Dr. Emery, "was the real sore spot with the German people long before the coming of Hitler. Historians may record the fact that Hitler took Czechoslovakia and Austria merely for the primary purpose of exercising the pincer movement on Poland, relatively strong eastern European power, in order to regain the corridor."

"But Hitler miscalculated the French and British."

He described in detail the hectic events between March 31 and Sept. 1, in which "diplomatic maneuvers tightened the noose around the neck of peace. Peace expired September 1."

Dr. Emery does not think the war, in terms of actual combat, has really started yet.

He pointed out that military experts generally agree that the French and German Maginot and Siegfried lines are impervious to the extent that it would take some 2,000,000 men to break through "Ard," he commented "neither side is willing to risk that kind of loss."

Formerly, when a warring force took possession of territory, the infantry marched in. But with the infantry pretty well throttled with the type of fortifications present now, it seems that a war of planes is predestined—bombers sweeping down from the air in waves, releasing destruction on cities, railroad centers, bridges, roads, and humanity, below.

Shock to German People

The speaker expressed the opinion that actual war came as a shock to the German people who believed Hitler a man of peace. As a result, many intellectuals have left Germany. One, a former diplomatic expert, highly conversant with Turkish situation, became a British citizen and headed, Dr. Emery said, the British negotiators who produced the Turkish agreement and the opening of the Dardanelles to Allied shipping.

The eastern and the western walls of Germany are closed, he stressed. That's why, he continued, the British-Turkish pact is so important. The Allies can land troops in Roumania, via the Black sea.

Commenting on the German-Soviet agreement, Dr. Emery said the British and French simply had nothing to offer. Germany had Poland and Poland offered Russia a way into the Baltic states because she wanted, chiefly, a way out for her navy.

The Gulf of Finland, ice-filled in the winter, has offered handicaps. Now, with bases in the Baltic states, a new way into the Baltic sea is provided the Soviet, not a favorable condition to Germany.

The Berlin-Moscow agreement was a real bombshell in Tokyo because the Japs had believed seriously in the anti-comintern pact.

As a result, in Dr. Emery's opinion, it was really a victory for England. The speaker said he would not be surprised to see some sort of agreement between Japan and Britain.

Commenting briefly on the Far Eastern rumormongering between Japan and China, Dr. Emery said that the Japanese, away from the big-city centers, have found rough sledding.

Chinese Still Fighting

The Chinese hinterlands are as much under Chinese government control as ever, the government collecting taxes, providing arms for guerrilla warfare and in other ways functioning as before. The Japs, accustomed to their crowded isle, have become lost in the spaces of China. As a rule, he said, the Chinese do not attempt frontal fighting. They yield, only to close in and then surround the invaders.

During his talk, Dr. Emery touched upon places, people and conditions virtually around the globe, holding his audience of almost 200 for fully two hours.

The ship apparently was traveling in Norwegian territorial waters, the report from Maaloy indicated, and was expected to pass Bergen this evening.

A CHEER FOR THE TEAM

Editor, The News:

This is written mostly for the benefit of the Salem High school football fans.

After every game that Salem wins, Coach Schroeder is given a swell build-up. If, perhaps, the team does not quite line up to the requirements of certain people, the team and the coach are ridiculed by the fans.

The thing that makes this point stand out so much is this: While at the football games the Salem fans brag about their team to the other side, once away from the games they make smart remarks that are not very encouraging to the team.

Also, if, at the game, a play is in motion and does not turn out quite the way it is supposed to, the so-called "downtown coaches" jump to their feet and begin telling the coach and the team what they think of him.

It's time someone put these folks in their place. Our team goes on the field with the coach, bearing the idea to fight until the game is over. That is exactly what they do, and, win or lose, they are good

Challedon Given Chance Of Matching Sun Beau's Record

W.L. BRANN COLT SCORES VICTORY IN 'DREAM RACE'

Challedon Boosts Earnings By Defeating Kayak, Cravat

By SID FEDER.
BALTIMORE, Nov. 2.—Challedon, champion of all racing for 1939, went on vacation today before getting back on the glory road which stands a good chance of leading him to Sun Beau's all-time high money-winning record of $376,744. William L. Brann's colt is still nearly $125,000 short of Sun Beau's "bank account," but this bay son of Challenger II, is only three years old—and from the way he whipped Kayak II and Cravat in Alfred G. Vanderbilt's annual "dream race," the Pimlico special, yesterday, there's no indication he is going to stop hitting the jackpot soon.

Boost Earnings
His half-length victory over Kayak II in the $10,000 winner-take-all special at a mile and three sixteenths, with Cravat a poor third, boosted his earnings after two years of racing to $252,235, and earned for him a rest, which Owner Brann and Trainer Lou Schaefer are going to give him now. Although plans are still indefinite, the chances are "Big Pete" won't have any more work to do this year.

If he does any winter work after 1940 comes in, the probability is it will be in Florida. There are plenty of juicy pots at Hialeah and Tropical, headed by the $50,000 Widener cup. Brann, who received a handsome gold cup as the $10,000 winner of the special, has said Challedon will be nominated for both the Widener and the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, just on the chance he may take his likeable big bay to California.

Since Kayak II and Cravat, with Challedon, are the outstanding horses in training right now, and since Challedon's boy whipped both the others with a gallant stretch drive on a track not yet completely dry from three days of rain, his chances of picking up that $125,000 aren't too tough as long as he remains sound.

May Come Back
Of course, Seabiscuit, winner of more than $300,000, may yet come back to the wars, but at present his chances are remote.

Challedon had only one bad moment against the South American bred Kayak II, owned by Charles S. Howard, California automobile distributor. That came as the three-horse field rounded the stretch turn and Kayak made his move. As they straightened out, the California contender poked his way to the front. But Jockey Eddie Aracero went to the bat there, and back came Big Pete.

Cravat, Townsend B. Martin's Kentucky-bred hope, was 10 lengths back. Challedon covered the distance in 1:59 and paid $2.90 for $2 in the straight betting.

Appears At Grate Alleys Today

Rookie and veteran bowlers alike are expected to visit the Grate Recreation alleys on S. Ellsworth ave. today to witness free exhibitions by W. B. "Bill" Shaul of Syracuse, N. Y., one of the country's leading bowlers.

Shaul will appear at the Grate alleys from 3 to 5 p. m. and 8 p. m. to 12 midnight. In addition to his exhibitions of proper bowling technique, he will give free instruction to all bowlers interested. Copies of a circular, explaining Shaul's new system of "spare" bowling will be distributed to visitors.

Shaul, a former New York state singles champion, holds an average of 203 in league and special matches and an average of 199 for A. B. C. tournament competition. He finished third in the A. B. C. singles in 1936 and has won the singles and all-events in New York state tournaments.

"Maginot" Line

The Cleveland Barons will be well-fortified with their "Maginot" hockey line of defensemen when they meet the Pittsburgh Hornets in the home opener Sunday night at the Arena.

One of the stars of the season is expected to be Larry McNeaux, whose father was a Frenchman. McNeaux (pronounced Moly-No) was purchased from the New York Rangers. Two years ago he was on the International-American League's All-Star team.

Besides McNeaux, the Barons have Dick Adolph, Freddie Robertson, Joe Jerwa and Harold Jackson to repel invading attacks on the Cleveland goal.

CATCHING FISH OR PASSES ALL SAME TO STAR

Ken Kavanaugh, L. S. U. End, Quite a Fisherman In More than One Way

By KENNETH GREGORY
BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 2.—Kenneth William Kavanaugh, the ace pass-snagging end of Louisiana State university, is quite a fisherman—literally and figuratively. Literally, he loves to fish. It is his favorite recreation.

Figuratively, he loves to fish forward passes out of the air. That is a specialty with him.

In the business of forward-passing fishing, the elongated Kavanaugh has very likely established a record for ends. He has scored nine touchdowns this season, bringing his collegiate total to 19 and one extra point.

These 15 points, added to the 11 touchdowns he made while playing defensive center and offensive end on a Little Rock, Ark. High school team, give the handsome athlete a total of 181 points in his football career.

Campus Favorite
Kavanaugh, 22 years old, with 203 pounds on his six-foot, three-inch frame, is a campus favorite. A pleasing personality, he modestly attributes his credit for his gridiron achievements to the teammates who do the passing and handle the blocking.

A student in the college of arts and sciences, Kavanaugh will receive his A. B. degree next June. Between classes, one may find him having a soft drink in the university field house listening to jazz music, surrounded by classmates. Fishing and football over for the day, Kavanaugh likes a hearty meal followed by a game of checkers before his evening's studies.

Coach Bernie Moore calls the "Arkansas traveller" a pass receiver. He is tough to guard, since he takes advantage of his height to leap above the defense.

The Arkansan has further opportunity this week to add to the rapidly-gaining prestige for an All-American berth. Louisiana takes Tennessee and, incidentally, Kavanaugh is the last player who has scored on the Volunteers. He caught a difficult end-zone touchdown pass against Tennessee last fall as his team lost 6-14.

BIG 10 TEAMS RESPECT RIVAL

Minnesota, Northwestern Issue Praise For Each Other

By ARNOLD DERLITZKI
CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—The Big Ten's most improved football team today? . . . Minnesota says Northwestern and Northwestern says Minnesota.

Whether it be football propaganda, the Alphonse-Gaston curtsy or some well rounded observation, it still is the basis of preparation at each camp this week as the two rivals point for their clash Saturday at Minneapolis. The respect the two rivals, each beaten once in conference competition, hold for each other dates back to previous meetings. In the last seven years, Minnesota has lost three conference games, two of them to Northwestern. At home it has not lost to the Purple since 1930, but at Evanston, the Gophers have not conquered the Wildcat since 1929.

Just Call Him Uncle
Bob Ratcliffe, Marquette sophomore tackle is the proud uncle of nine nephews and eight nieces.

Marshall Goldberg will tell you the main difference between pro and semi-pro football is this: He gets $10,000 per year from the Chicago Cardinals, whereas at Pitt he was paid only $48 per month.

Tune Up Attack
The Gophers began tuning up their attack yesterday while Northwestern worked on defense. Ohio State and Indiana, two equally offensive minded rivals who meet Saturday, concentrated on passes and the Buckeyes on throwing them and Indiana on stopping them.

As Coach Fritz Crisler counseled Michigan against belittling Illinois power, the Illini appeared impressive in stopping freshmen using Wolverine plays. Iowa had a look at Purdue plays it expects to see at Lafayette Saturday. The Bollermakers tapered off on contact work.

Chicago drilled on a pass defense for Virginia's Cavaliers. Wisconsin, with an open date Saturday, gave over the day to the second team, which showed disappointing form against the freshmen.

Ohio Nimrods Expected To Enjoy Good Pheasant Hunting When Season Opens

Rabbit Prospects Best In Many Years, Reports Show

BY E. E. EASTERLY

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2.—Ohio's nimrods will enjoy the "best pheasant hunting they ever saw," when the season opens Nov. 8, the state conservation division's experts predicted today.

"Buck" Rider, the division's publicity man, said he counted 66 pheasants in one flock in a northwestern Ohio county.

The rabbit prospects are the best in many years, reports to the division indicate. The season on them, as well as Hungarian partridge, also opens Nov. 8. The division said it had received unfavorable reports only from Shelby and Champlain among the counties where pheasants have been plentiful heretofore.

Those hunters who hear a lot about grouse and Hungarian pheasants, but seldom see few will be encouraged to hear that they are more numerous this year than in a long time.

The rabbits are so thick that farmers have been complaining about them causing damage to trees and crops.

The large number may be attributed largely to the ideal weather of the past summer plus the conservation division's importation of approximately 48,000 western rabbits. Then, too, the division has trapped 5,000 rabbits in over-populated areas and released them in counties which had a deficiency.

The same thing was done with 5,000 pheasants.

The black or melanistic pheasant is expected to be present in larger numbers this year. The tip of its feathers has a bluish green tint. There also will be a limited number of ring-neck red pheasants developed by Tom Nash at the Urbana game farm.

The conservation division reports it has found the sentiment overwhelmingly in favor of the staggered hunting season being inaugurated this year.

The rabbit season, for instance, runs this way: Nov. 8, 9, 10 and 11; 15, 16, 17 and 18; 22, 23, 24 and 25; and Nov. 29 and 30.

The new system is designed to make more hunting time available to those persons who can get off from work only one or two days at the end of each week.

On the other hand, it has brought complaints from those hunters who have arranged two-week expeditions in the past.

Another criticism is that it's a cruel joke on the game: They will consider the three-day lull as the end of the hunting season and come out of hiding, only to run into the hunters' barrage.

Warner Carlton, Trumbull county game protector, reports that deer in his area are very tame and often feed close to farm houses. But he warned there is a maximum penalty of $200 fine for killing them.

John McCartney of Youngstown recently killed a deer with his automobile near Johnstown, Trumbull county. The animal was dressed and given to a tuberculosis sanitarium and the Trumbull county children's home.

Common Sense WITH GUNS

ALL sportsmen are interested in the question how shooting casualties may be reduced. The annual Ohio Conservation Division reports indicating the manner in which accidents occur show that they are occasioned mostly through the violation of a few simple rules that should suggest themselves to everybody, according to Conservation Commissioner Don Waters.

Modern firearms are far more complicated than they were in the old days, and novices should be careful to seek such instruction as will enable them to know what they are doing.

Pointing a gun in the direction of another person may seem funny, or devoid of danger under some circumstances—but it's bad practice anytime, anywhere.

Three positions for carrying the gun in the field are recognized as safe and good: First—Over the shoulder with the muzzle pointing upward; Second—Over the hollow of the arm, pointed away from companions and dogs; Third—Under the arm with the barrel pointed toward the ground.

DON'TS

In addition to the pictured don'ts at the left, add these:
Don't jump a ditch with a loaded gun.
Don't load a gun in the house.

Don't take a revolver on a hunting trip.

Don't shoot until you know what is within range; it may save you a lifetime of regret, or at least the loss of a good dog or the farmer's pig.

Don't put a wrong gauge shell into your gun.

Don't use shot cartridges in a rifle. Don't threaten to shoot anyone, in fun or otherwise—this advice includes land owners.

Don't take risks.

Mountaineers Plan Heavy Grid Schedule For Next Year

MORGANTON, W. Va., Nov. 2.—Announcement of a 1940 game with Fordham was taken today as further indication that West Virginia university is becoming more football minded what with the brilliant performance of its freshman team and apparent straightening out of tangled athletic finances.

A clash with the Rams in New York next Oct. 5, will mark the first time in four years the Mountaineers have traveled east to meet a major eleven.

Dates already announced show West Virginia going to Penn State Oct. 12, entertaining George Washington Oct. 25, and engaging Washington and Lee at Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 12. Athletic Director Roy M. Hawley said dates for contests with Pittsburgh, Kentucky and Michigan State would be arranged later.

Meantime, speculation continues as to who will succeed Coach Marshall (Sleepy) Glenn. While his resignation is accepted here is certain, Hawley says the "coaching situation" will be settled "at the end of the season." Coach Bill Kern of Carnegie Tech is most generally mentioned for the job but he declines to comment on the possibility of moving here.

TONY CANZONERI REACHES END OF FIGHTING TRAIL

Veteran Boxer Belted Into Oblivion by Kid From Brooklyn

By BILL WHITE

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Broadway saw one of its favorite sons reach the end of the road in Madison Square Garden last night—and it wasn't a pretty sight.

Old and ring-wise Tony Canzoneri, veteran of 166 stirring battles, was belted into oblivion by the stinging left hand of a young Brooklyn kid, plaiced Al Davis, in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounders in the same arena where his fight with Al Singer set an attendance record back in 1928, the same ring where he lost the featherweight title to Andre Routis, the same ring where he won the lightweight title from Singer in 1930.

Afterwards the Canzoneri dressing room was like a tomb—in sharp contrast to the stuffy quarters where Davis changed into street togs.

"Well, it had to come sometime," Tony mumbled through a cut lip. His followers nodded sadly. He said he hadn't any plans but when asked if this was his last fight he looked glumly up and said, "I hope so."

His right eye was badly damaged from the blows of Davis, the smiling slinger.

Crowd Shocked

A momentary roar from the crowd of 12,750 greeted the end of the Canzoneri saga, and then they filed out almost as though they were passing Tony's bier, shocked and stunned that the end had come so quickly to their idol. Early in the third round, Davis knocked Tony wobbly with a thunderous left hand. Tony plopped to the floor, but managed to get up at the count of three. The husky Davis hurtled across the ring and blasted him again with another flurry and floored him again with a numbing left.

He struggled up at six, but Referee Arthur Donovan, waving the eager Davis away, put his arm around Tony, and led him to his corner.

The fight ended officially at 2:13 of the third round, and drew a gate of $30,739.09, of which Davis and Tony will take about $8,500 apiece.

BOWLING RESULTS

The defending champion Columbiana Firestones, rolling in top form, moved into the lead in the Pastime league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

The Firestones turned in a 2806 series as they swept three games from Tyson's West End Service, the former leader. The Columbiana five's splendid series included games of 903, 950 and 953.

Cliff Bowling set the pace for the new league leader, combining games of 192, 226 and 189 for a 607 series.

The three defeats dropped Tyson's into a tie for third place with Citizen's Ice & Coal, which won three games from the Salem Label Co. The Sohoians took second place on the strength of two wins over Jr. C. of C. No. 1.

Other Pastime matches gave the Famous Dairy two wins over Bossert's and the Columbiana Barons two wins over Loudon V-8's.

Led by Mrs. Merle Caldwell, the S. S. Kresge ladies swept three games from the Elks to remain out in front in the Masonic Ladies' league at the Masonic alleys. Mrs. Caldwell put together games of 166, 177 and 172 for a 515 series.

The Kresge ladies included an 852 game in their 2333 series, the highest rolled in the league this season.

The Ohio Edison took over second place in the league standings by winning three games over the Salem News, while in other matches Wark's won two out of three heats with Mullins and the Bankerettes won two out of three with the Electric Furnace.
